

Special teams a main culprit in Blades' weekend loss to Burlington games. Oakville scored just four goals on 56 shots (not including an empty netter against Milton) on the weekend while going 1-for-11 on the power play.

Anthony Pototschnik and Vince Scott, the latter picked up from the OHL's Sarnia Sting before last week's trade deadline, got the Blades off to a good start with goals in the first four minutes of Friday's game against Burlington. Unfortunately for the Blades, they surrendered three straight power play goals against Kori Coelho and entered the third trailing 3-2 despite having outshot the Cougars 22-9.

Burlington scored two more in the third, one shorthanded, to hand the Blades just their third loss in 21 home games this season.

Against Milton, Daniel Borges set up all three Oakville goals — a second-period power play marker by Scott Judson and third-period goals by Nick McParland and Jamie Vanderveeken, the Blades' other major deadline acquisition.

Oakville will host the Buffalo Jr. Sabres Friday (7:30 p.m., Dominion Twin Rinks) and plays in Streetsville Sunday afternoon.
