WILLIAMSON, BARBARA Banker- beloved wife, step-mother, sister, horsewoman, community volunteer and friend, passed away suddenly while riding her horse, on Wednesday February 7, 2007 in Oakville, Ontario. She was born in Chicago, Illinois on January 26, 1951 to Dr. Robert and Mrs. Marilyn Banker. Raised in Manitowoc, Wisconsin, Barbara graduated with honors from Lincoln High School. After high school she attended Miami of Ohio University and graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1972 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English. Barbara taught middle school English in Schofield, Wisconsin for two years then moved to Tulsa, Oklahoma following her first marriage. She attended the University of Tulsa earning a Masters Degree in Education then teaching at the Tulsa Job Corps Center for several years. She went on to earn her Doctor of Law degree at the University of Tulsa School of Law in 1982. After practicing law at Conner and Winters Law Firm in Tulsa from 1983-1988, Barbara moved to Lake Elmo, Minnesota where she made partner at the Minneapolis office of the international law firm Oppenheimer Wolff & Donnelly. She practiced as a Partner in the firm's commercial banking group. Subsequently, she became a member of the law department of First Bank System (now US Bancorp) supporting the commercial practice of the large public financial holding company. Barbara ended her Minnesota law career at Residential Funding Corporation (now Residential Capital LLC), a leading diversified real estate finance company. As a member of the law department she provided legal services to the largest interim funder of mortgage loans in the United States. Barbara, of course, endured the running joke set up by her last name. During these years Barbara was an avid scuba diver, completing her Master Scuba Diver training and traveling frequently to exotic locations to swim among sting rays and rare coral reefs. A dedicated and talented creative writer Barbara attended writing classes and retreats to hone her short story and poetry writing skills. During her time in Minnesota, Barbara bought her first two thoroughbred horses, Red and Rexx, and began the passionate pursuit of dressage. In 2000, Barbara became reacquainted with an old Tulsa friend, Steve Williamson who resided in Oakville, Ontario. They married on February 24, 2001, and Barbara moved to Oakville where she became step-mother to Steve's three adult and two teenage children. Barbara gave up the practice of law, focusing her energy on growing together with her new family and building a life in Oakville. Barbara was able to become "Mom" to all her stepchildren, whom she dearly loved. She also became involved in the May Court Club of Oakville. She was particularly active in the Club's "Nearly New Shop" which was one of the Club's primary fund raising activities for charities. Starting as a shift supervisor, Barbara rose to the position of Shop Director, and, ultimately, Finance Director for the shop. At the same time, Barbara grew her animal "family" to four horses and four cats. She acquired two more horses, Fragonard and Tucker, both specifically bred for dressage work. Her older horse, Rexx, decided he was going to be a "hunter jumper" horse and put his heart, and Barbara's efforts, into it. All of these activities created a whole new circle of friends for Barbara, as well as a few broken bones, cuts and bruises. Finally, Barbara and her adored husband Steve enjoyed ballroom dancing, enrolling in regular lessons at the local Fred Astaire Studio (now the Keep On Dancing Studio), as well as competing at several annual regional events--winning Top Amateur Couple at the last competition. As with many things in their life together, the point was not the competition, but having fun with friends, and, especially, laughter. Barbara brought that spirit to all of her relationships and associations. She touched people in a special way; she cared about those around her (both her two-legged and four-legged friends) and infused all she did with a spirit of adventure and determination. Barbara was deeply loved and will be sorely missed by many, including her husband Steve; her step-children Robert and Tom, Astrid van den Berg, Katherine and David; her grand-child Lucius van den Berg; her brother and sisters Robert Banker (Dianne) of Midland, Virginia, Judith Banker (John Saylor) of Ann Arbor, Michigan, Pamela Banker of Sister Bay, Wisconsin, and Lori Banker-Horner (James) of Greenfield, Wisconsin; her uncle Dale Lange of Manitowoc, Wisconsin; her nephews and niece Rob, Eric, Ben, Dan, Julia and Billy; her step-sisters and stepbrothers, and their spouses and children; and other family members. Barbara was preceded in death by her father and mother and stepfather Arthur Zuehlke. Visitation will be from 7 to 9pm on Friday February 16, at Ward Funeral Home, 109 Reynolds St., Oakville. There will be a private family funeral service on Saturday morning, followed by a Remembrance service open to all of her friends and family from 2 to 5pm at the Atrium, 5420 North Service rd., Burlington. Memorial donations can be made to the Breast Cancer Society of Canada or the May Court Scholarship Fund, Oakville.

The family invites friends and relatives to sign Barbara's Book of Condolence at barbara.williamson@wardffh.com

CARSON, William James- Died peacefully at his home in Sydney, Nova Scotia February 7th. Bill's great grandfather was the Reverend James Nesbitt who came from Scotland with his family settling in Oakville Ontario 1845. He attended theological college in Toronto and was the first minister at Knox Presbyterian church in Oakville, 1850-1860. Then he joined the Reverend John Black in Kildonan Manitoba to do missionary work. Reverend Nesbitt's wife, new baby and her sister travelled 500 miles by ox cart to the Northwest Territories to work among the Indian people. He founded and named the place they settled in Prince Albert after the consort of Queen Victoria. In the late 1860's Reverend Nesbitt returned to Kildonan where he and his wife died within a week of each other. Their four children were sent to Reverend Nesbitt's family in Oakville. Bill was very proud of his mother's family history and his father's family who also came from Scotland in the 1800's and settled in Oakville. They were carpenters by trade building some of the wonderful old homes in Oakville as well as the Oakville Trafalgar High School now a heritage building. Bill was a veteran of the Second World War like his father who had served in the First World War. Bill leaves his wife Jane, his children Jillian Carson Jackson and her husband Paul Jackson of Australia, his daughter Mary and husband Danny Lozinski of Ajax, his son Reverend Warren Vollmer and wife Susan of Lakefield and grandchildren: Andrew and Elizabeth Jackson of Australia; Rachel and Sarah Vollmer of Lakefield and close cousins Michael Carson of Bracebridge and Barbara Gennrich nee Carson of Oakville. A funeral service was held in Sydney Nova Scotia Saturday February 10th. Bill's son Warren conducted the service and his daughter Mary gave the eulogy. A memorial service will be held at St. Jude's Anglican Church in Oakville where Bill and Jane attended with their children over the many years. Bill is predeceased by his father and mother Hugh and Bella Carson nee Bacon and step mother Susannah May Carson nee Cuttall as well as his uncles Howard, Dewart and Carl Carson. Bill is dearly missed by all his family and friends and will always be remembered with love.
